

The Devils

aus Napoli / Süditalien verkörpern den ultimativen Sound des Chaos. Ihr Stil ist primitiv, voller Sex, Sünde und Rock'n'Roll. Doch ihre Fans in ganz Europa wissen, dass es mehr als nur das spielen mit Klischees ist.

Für ihre ersten beiden Veröffentlichungen auf Voodoo Rhythm Records („Sin, you sinners!“ 2016 und „Iron Butt“ 2017) haben sie mit dem Produzenten Jim Diamond von The Gories (White Stripes, The Sonics) zusammengearbeitet.

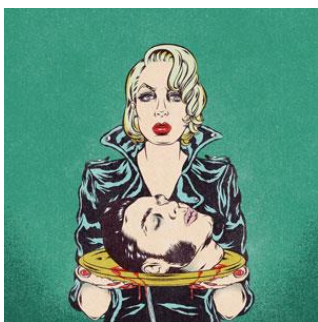

Ihr drittes Album „Beast Must Regret Nothing“ [2021] wurde von Alain Johannes (QOTSA) produziert und beinhaltet einen Song zusammen mit Mark Lanegan von den Screaming Trees. Das bedeutet, dass die Devils nicht nur auf der cool aussehen wenn sie lautstark durch die Songs rocken, sondern ebenfalls gekonnt daran arbeiten, den richtigen Sound zu finden.

Das im Februar 2023 auf Go Down Records veröffentlichte Album „Let The World Burn Down“ wurde von Alain Johannes (Queens Of The Stoneage, Them Crooked Vultures, Chris Cornell, PJ Harvey). Mit Recht wird dieses Album europaweit von der Presse und Fans gefeiert, Die Devils sind Gianni Blacula (Gitarre) und Switchblade Erika (Schlagzeug/Gesang). Gegründet 2015 benannten sie sich nach Ken Russells legendärem Film „The Devils“ (1971). Die Energie die dieses Duo versprüht reicht für eine vierköpfige Band. Musikalisch bewegt man sich dabei eindeutig in einer Liga solchen Acts wie The Cramps, Hound Dog Taylor, The Gories, Jon Spencer, Hasil Adkins oder The Oblivians.

Zur Veröffentlichung des Live Albums „Live at Maximum Festival“ 2023 schrieb themidlandrocks.com: “Live At Maximum Festival is the ultimate distillation of The Devils’ experience. Raw and rumbustious, this recording is a musical sacrifice to the deity rock n’ roll, and Live At Maximum Festival is your invite.”

Im Februar 2024 erscheint das Album „Let The World Burn Down“ bei Go Down Records www.godownrecords.com

THE DEVILS - Let The World Burn Down

"After releasing our third album in 2021, during the lockdown, we thought we would never play again. But all that anguish and disillusionment gave us the energy to go back to writing new songs, thanks to our desire to discover new musical horizons and many inspirational blues and soul listenings in recent years. Let The World Burn Down is dedicated to all the Brothers and Sisters who have had enough of Humanity." - The Devils

This quote of the Naples-based power duo introduces us to their fourth studio album. Let The World Burn Down marks their renewed collaboration with California musician Alain Johannes. The tracklist includes covers of 'Big City Lights' by Cleo Randle (1966) and 'Teddy Boy Boogie' by Crazy Cavan 'n' The Rhythm Rockers (1975), here adapted into 'Teddy Girl Boogie.'

ABOUT THE BAND

THE DEVILS formed in Naples, Italy, in 2015. Their first two albums, Sin, You Sinners! (2016) and Iron Butt (2017) were produced by Jim Diamond (The White Stripes, The Sonics) and released by Voodoo Rhythm Records. Since 2016, they have been consistently touring with over 500 shows throughout Europe, the UK and Canada.

Gianni Blacula raves the guitar, and Erika Switchblade hits the drums. The Devils embody the definitive sound of chaos; their style is primitive, filled with sex, sin, and Rock'n'Roll. They are wild, very loud, and sexy. They named themselves after Ken Russel's legendary movie The Devils (1971).

Their third album, Beast Must Regret Nothing (2021), was produced by Alain Johannes (QOTSA, Them Crooked Vultures, Chris Cornell, PJ Harvey) and features Mark Lanegan on lead vocals for 'Devil Whistle Don't Sing.' Their upcoming studio album still features the multifaceted musician Johannes in mixing, mastering, and performing guitar solos for 'Horror and Desire.'

Let The World Burn Down will drop via Go Down Records in February 2024. The same label released The Devils' first live album in January 2023.

The band has toured with great acts such as The Sonics, Jon Spencer & The Hitmakers, Boss Hog, Mudhoney, GBH, and many others. They have also performed at several major European festivals, including Azkena Rock Festival and Helloradio.

The Devils

embody the definitive sound of chaos; Their style is primitive, filled with sex, sin and rock'n'roll. But their fans all over Europe know it is more than this. For their first two releases on Voodoo Rhythm Records ("Sin, you sinners!" [2016] and "Iron Butt" [2017]) they have worked with producer Jim Diamond of The Gories (White Stripes, The Sonics). Their third record "Beast Must Regret Nothing" [2021] was produced by Alain Johannes (QOTSH) and includes a song with Mark Lanegan (Screaming Trees) That means the Devils are not just cool looking people banging their instruments, they definitely working hard to have the right sound for their songs.

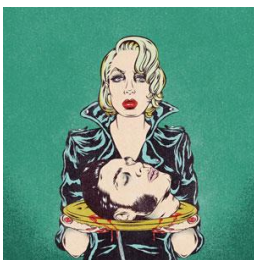

Their new album „Let The World Burn Down“ (feb 2024) was mixed and mastered by Alain Johannes (Queens Of The Stone Age, Chris Cornell, PJ Harvey).

The Devils are Gianni Blacula (guitar) and Switchblade Erika (drums/vocals). Formed in 2015 in Naples/South Italy, they named themselves after Ken Russell's legendary film "The Devils" (1971).

The energy that this duo exudes is enough for a four-piece band. Musically they are clearly in the same league as acts like The Cramps, Hound Dog Taylor, The Gories, Jon Spencer, Hasil Adkins and The Oblivians.

themidlandrocks.com wrote about the release of their live album in 2023: "Live At Maximum Festival is the ultimate distillation of The Devils' experience. Raw and rumbustious, this recording is a musical sacrifice to the deity rock n' roll, and Live At Maximum Festival is your invite."
